About us

The Greenwich & Bexley Bereavement Help Point is here to help people through bereavement. Our trained counsellors are at the end of the phone, able to give you some immediate emotional support and link you in with the right support from a local voluntary organisation.

You may feel more comfortable getting in touch via our website, where you can find out more about us and arrange for one of our counsellors to get in touch.

We are a collaboration between local organisations throughout the Royal Borough of Greenwich and the London Borough of Bexley, working together during the COVID-19 pandemic and beyond.
